The "Responsible Together" Perpetrator Work Campaign

2018

We chose 2018 to call for shared responsibility to end violence against women.

Shared Responsibility

The 2018 WWP EN “Responsible Together” Perpetrator Work Campaign serves as a symbol and a promise to continue the support of gender equality and non-violence through responsible perpetrator work based on safety, accountability and cooperation.

The WWP EN campaign provides information on perpetrator work, and identifies, clarifies and works toward eliminating misconceptions about perpetrator programmes through activities and materials.

Activities

During the 2018 16 Days of Activism against Gender-Based Violence, we asked participating members to fight against prejudices and to spread knowledge about their perpetrator programmes.

The campaigners were incredible and organised everything from film screenings to charity concerts, solidarity marches and street actions. Read some more about the events below or on our website!

Materials

We developed a range of campaign materials which address different issues around perpetrator work:

- The flyer addresses the most common misconceptions and critiques towards perpetrator programmes. It supports a dialogue and exchange between critics and perpetrator programmes.
- The poster gives an overview of the areas perpetrator programmes work in and shows the importance of perpetrator work for holistic community-based interventions against gender-based violence.
- The postcard speaks to perpetrators directly and covers a range of abusive behaviours, such as financial, psychological and physical violence, aiding in spreading information about different kinds of abuse.

The Activities

Street Action in Modrica

The postcard was a great approach to speak about violence, perpetrator work and our Men's Center.

We are very happy that we are a part of WWP EN and we hope that we will have many more campaigns together.

- Dajana Ilic, Buducnost

Film Screening in Florence

The movie theatre was completely full and pre-order sales were so successful city hall decided to book two more screenings on following days.

We will definitely try and have more similar activities next year.

- Alessandra Pauncz, CAM Firenze

March in Tirana

Perpetrator programmes and women's support services are fighting the same fight - we are working to end violence against women. Seeing youth activists bring the movements together was touching and fitting.

- Atila Uligaj, Woman to Woman

Awareness-Raising in Helsinki

The WWP EN postcards are very popular! We printed over 1000 already and they are really reaching many people. In next year's campaign, we will get involved with more members.

- Veli-Matti Toikka, FMCHS
